ON ZEPPELIN'S BALLOON HURT

Big Airship's Gas Compartments Ripped Open — Cheers For Aviator in Berlin.

By United Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 30.—Mistresses today pursued Count Zeppelin's dirigible Zeppelin III, which started on its return journey after its welcome in Temple Field yesterday by the Kaiser and 500,000 persons.

Soon after the start was made this morning, the propellers flew off the shafts when the ship was near Huelshoff and the vessel was brought to earth badly damaged. Three gas compartments were ripped open and it will take two days of steady labor to repair them. Zeppelin was not on board at the time, the ship being in charge of Engineer Durr.

The reception of the big ship in Berlin yesterday was an event that will never be forgotten. Cheers and other signs from thousands of throats as the balloon appeared in the night. The emperor and the royal party, including Orville and Katharine Wright, greeted Count Zeppelin.

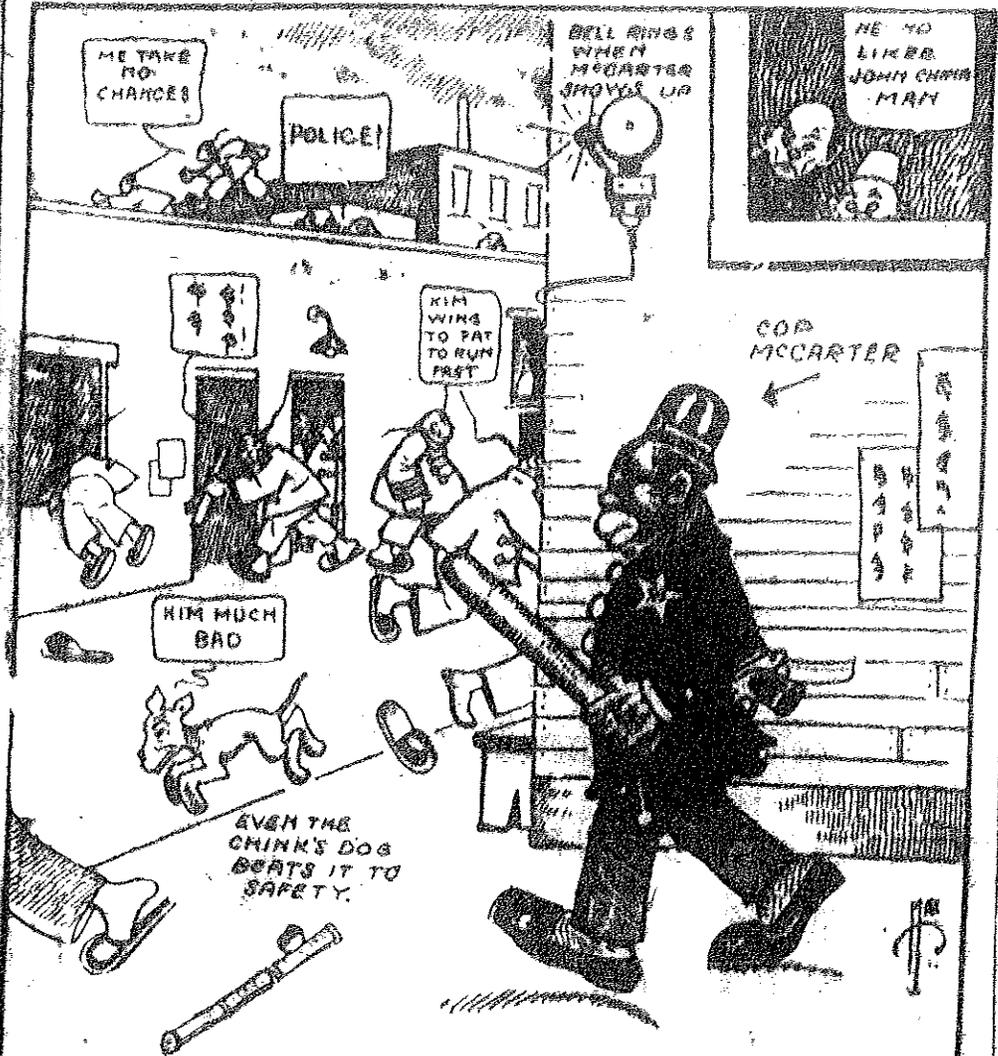

The Horse Crew Horns by Night

The police were still laughing today at the adventure of an employee of the Goodbody contracting firm who went to the Goodbody stables on Front street early Saturday to hitch up for the day. The man, who may be called Smith because that isn't his name, whistled merrily in the cool morning air as he stepped from Big Boy's stall to that used by Big Boy's stable companion, Jake.

"Get over, Jake," said Smith, making entrance to the stall rather difficult. The big bulk in the stall shifted over, but with no great alacrity.

And to answer the question in a playful way, Smith put his hand up for Jake's head. If

OUR COLORED POLICEMAN ON THE JOB

"McCarte!"—not only among his black brethren, but in the heart of Chinatown the name—that of the new colored cop—carries with it a preponderance of dread.

Persistent rumors floating around in police circles that Policeman McCarter erstwhile preacher and Capt. Behon's latest find, is to be adorned with helmet, blue coat, brass buttons and a regulation club, are due for confirmation within the next few days. So The Sun's darling artist that his eyes and could see McCarter fully uniformed making his first appearance in Chinatown. As depicted by the artist, the effect is obvious.

Policeman McCarter, you know, when he took the oath, was instructed to confine his official efforts to members of his own race. Two weeks later he raided a Chinese lottery joint, holding that the Chinese were near enough his own color.

Since that day Chinatown, like the bad part of Darktown, has wished that Sup. Behon hadn't discovered this energetic colored gentleman.
